Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 (c), (d), (e), and (g) (Effective 12/1/13)

(c) Place of Compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

- (A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or
- (B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person
 - (i) is a party or a party's officer; or
 - (ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2) For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

- (A) production of documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and
- (B) inspection of premises at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction—which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees—on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing, or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises—or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

- (i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.
- (ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

- (i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;
- (ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);
- (iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or
- (iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

- (i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and
- (ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

- (i) expressly make the claim; and
- (ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt.

The court for the district where compliance is required—and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court—may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

EXHIBIT A – TOPICS FOR TESTIMONY

Definitions

1. The term “document” includes “originals” and “duplicates” and has the same meaning as the terms “writings and recordings” and “photographs” as defined in Rules 1001(1) and (2) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, whether or not claimed to be privileged against discovery on any ground. Any document that contains any comment, notation, addition, deletion, insertion, or marking of any kind, which is not part of another document, is a separate document.

2. The terms “original” and “duplicate” are defined in Rules 1001(3) and (4) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, as follows: “Original” means the writing itself or any counterpart intended to have the same effect by a person executing or issuing it. An “original” of a photograph includes the negative or any print therefrom. If data is stored in a computer or similar device, any printout or other output readable by sight, shown to reflect the data accurately, is an “original.” A “duplicate” is a counterpart produced by the same impression as the original, or from the same matrix, or by means of photographs, including enlargements and miniatures, or by mechanical or electronic re-recording, or by chemical reproduction, or by other equivalent techniques, that accurately reproduces the original.

3. The term “communication” refers to and includes any contact whatsoever and any transmission or exchange of words, numbers, graphic material, or other information, either orally, electronically, or in writing, whether made, received, or participated in, and includes without limitation any conversation, correspondence, letter, notes, memorandum, inter-office or intra-office correspondence, telephone call, facsimile, electronic mail, Internet communication, social media message, electronic message, SMS or MMS message, tape recording, digital recording, discussion, face-to-face meeting, conference, or meeting of any kind (whether in person, by telephone, Internet phone or videoconference, or in any other form).

4. The terms “relate,” “relates to,” “related to” or “relating to” shall mean all documents and things having any logical or factual connection, directly or indirectly, with the matter discussed and shall mean any one or more of the following: evidencing, referring to, discussing, describing, concerning, mentioning, reflecting, depicting, summarizing, involving, regarding, embodying, containing, pertaining to, arising out of, or in connection with.

5. The term “evidence” means testimony, writings, material objects, or other things presented to the senses that could be offered to prove the existence or nonexistence of a fact.

6. The terms “you” and “your” mean the responding party, including any of its present and former agents, officers, directors, employees, affiliates, investigators, trustees, consultants, advisors, accountants, attorneys and all other persons or entities acting or purporting to act on its behalf or on behalf of its predecessors, subsidiaries, parents, affiliates and successors.

7. The terms “person” or “persons” mean and include natural persons, corporations, companies, limited liability companies, partnerships, limited partnerships, associations, organizations, joint ventures, groups, government bodies or agencies, legal entities or any other cognizable entities.

8. The term “Carrier” refers to any entity which provides telecommunications services within the United States, including but not limited to Verizon Communications Inc. (dba “Verizon” and “Verizon Wireless”), T-Mobile US, Inc. (dba “T-Mobile”), AT&T Inc., Sprint LLC (dba “Sprint”), and United States Cellular Corp. (dba “U.S. Cellular”).

9. The term “Accused Product(s)” refers to all of your phones, tablets, wearables, and devices used, sold, offered for sale, or imported between 2017 and the present comprising Android software (e.g., Android Operating System Platform) including but not limited to the following: Droid Maxx, Droid Maxx 2, Droid Mini, Droid Turbo, Droid Turbo 2, Droid X (2nd Gen), Edge 2022, edge 5G UW, Edge+, Edge+ 5G UW, moto e (5th Gen), moto e5 play, moto e plus (5th Gen), Moto e6, moto force z droid, moto g play (2021), Moto g power (2021), moto g power (2022), moto g pure, Moto g stylus 5G (2021), Moto g stylus 5G (2022), moto g6, moto g7 power, REVVL 2, REVVL 2 Plus, REVVL 5G, moto e 6th gen, REVVL V+ 5G, razr 5G, REVVL 6 PRO 5G, Stylus 5G, moto g7 power, Moto X (2nd Gen), Moto Z Force Droid, Moto Z Play Droid, moto z2 force edition, Moto Z2 Play, moto z3, moto z4, one 5G UW, one 5G UW ace, Razr (2020), REVVLRY, one 5G, REVVL 4, moto g 5G (2022), REVVL 6 5G, G6 Play (6th Gen), REVVL 4+, moto tab, razr+, and moto g stylus 5G (2023), including all versions, revisions, and variations of the foregoing.

10. The term “Network Access Control Functionality” refers to functionality relating to foreground applications, background applications, sleeping applications and functionality that monitors, blocks, allows, defers, or controls network access or network data communications in any way, including but not limited to features that control network access for an application based upon whether it is in the foreground or background or that control network access based upon Carrier-defined lists or policies, and including but not limited to the Data Saver, Battery Saver, Doze Mode, App Standby, and Battery usage controls (including Samsung’s Device Care) features.

Topics for Deposition

1. Your organizational and corporate structure, and all departments, teams, or groups responsible for the development, engineering, and operation of the Accused Products, including the identity of each predecessor, successor, division, subsidiary, parent, partnership, joint venture, affiliate, and related business entity, whether organized under the laws of the United States or another sovereign, and whether that organizational structure has changed over the past two years.

2. The identity of each Accused Product, including the product's name, internal and external model and version number(s), development names, project names, software build IDs, and any other designation or nomenclature used to identify the Accused Products and their features.

3. The dates of first sale and commercial usage of each Accused Product, including for each product name, internal and external model and version number, development name, project name, software build ID, and any other designation or nomenclature used to identify the Accused Products.

4. The research, design, development, features, performance, function, operation, and use of each Accused Product.

5. The types and locations of documents generated in the design and development of the Accused Products, including the custodians of any such documents and the identity of all persons involved in the design and development of the Accused Products and their features.

6. Source code for each of the Accused Products, including the design, architecture, authorship, revision control, development, compilation/synthesis/building, deployment, testing, performance, and operation of such source code, wherever that source code may be stored or executed, including, without limitation, information regarding the current and prior versions of source code for Network Access Control Functionality.

7. Any similarities and/or differences between or across each Accused Product, including but not limited to components, component suppliers, technical specifications, performance, and/or source code.

8. For each Accused Product, each integration, enhancement, fix, change, addition, deletion, update, or modification to the operating system or user interface for the Accused Products and related to Network Access Control Functionality.

9. The benefits and/or advantages of any Accused Product, including but not limited to the benefits and/or advantages of any Network Access Control Functionality.

10. The identity and source of each component in each Accused Product, including the component's name, internal and external model and version number(s), development names, project names, software build IDs, and any other designation or nomenclature.

11. The searches performed by You to meet Your obligations in responding to subpoenas in this action, including the identity of persons who performed the search(es), the types of media and systems searched, any key words used to cull materials, and the locations searched.

12. The source, location, chain of custody, and authenticity of documents produced by You in this litigation.

13. Communications and information exchanged between You and any Carrier regarding the design, development, features, performance, function, operation, use, and testing of any hardware or software components of the Accused Products, including of any Network Access Control Functionality.

EXHIBIT B – DOCUMENTS FOR PRODUCTION

Definitions

1. The term “document” includes “originals” and “duplicates” and has the same meaning as the terms “writings and recordings” and “photographs” as defined in Rules 1001(1) and (2) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, whether or not claimed to be privileged against discovery on any ground. Any document that contains any comment, notation, addition, deletion, insertion, or marking of any kind, which is not part of another document, is a separate document.

2. The terms “original” and “duplicate” are defined in Rules 1001(3) and (4) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, as follows: “Original” means the writing itself or any counterpart intended to have the same effect by a person executing or issuing it. An “original” of a photograph includes the negative or any print therefrom. If data is stored in a computer or similar device, any printout or other output readable by sight, shown to reflect the data accurately, is an “original.” A “duplicate” is a counterpart produced by the same impression as the original, or from the same matrix, or by means of photographs, including enlargements and miniatures, or by mechanical or electronic re-recording, or by chemical reproduction, or by other equivalent techniques, that accurately reproduces the original.
